

LibriVox

The Black Bag

by Louis Joseph Vance (1879-1933)

Mr. Philip Kirkwood, a not so successful painter, receives a visitor from his home town in America, who wants him to do him an unspecified favor, but Kirkwood doesn't trust him and sends him away. That night, he sees the stranger dine with his beautiful daughter. In order to protect the girl, the stranger confesses to Kirkwood that he expects to be arrested upon leaving the restaurant. Kirkwood agrees to take care of the girl, but when he brings her home, he knows that she is in danger and that there must be a mystery attached...

This project has 22 files and a total running time of 10:27:47.

Read by:

William Tomcho, Adam Doughty, Anna Simon, CrowGirl and Michele Eaton

Dedicated Proof-Listener: M Z Spark

Artwork from the original book by Thomas Fogarty (1873-1938)

Cover design: Bart de Leeuw

Book Coordinator/Meta-Coordinator/Cataloging: Carolin Kaiser

For more information or to volunteer, please visit librivox.org.

All LibriVox productions are in the Public Domain.

Louis Joseph Vance – The Black Bag

Louis Joseph Vance – The Black Bag